

Wayne's Advice to Skye

Wayne Dyer's daughter Skye had a very short window to produce her first CD. Skye was given an opportunity to "go on the road" and perform and had two weeks to get a brand new CD ready. Having no prior experience producing CDs, Skye began to share her fears with her Father. Wayne's response to her was the following: "Skye don't think about what you can't do or that you can't do it, just contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce." Skye responded with further resistance confirming her belief that she knew she couldn't possibly produce a CD in only two weeks. Wayne repeated the same wise advice to Skye by saying: "Contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce." Whatever comment Skye came back with, Wayne would respond with the same wisdom: "Skye, contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce."

After the first week passed of the two week window, Skye had managed to pull together a band, a studio, a design for the cover, and everything was coming together nicely for her CD, except one small detail. Skye didn't have the funds to produce the CD. She called her Father and told him about the first week's accomplishments and said that she needed $5,000 to produce the CD. This was $5,000 that she didn't have. Wayne's response, once again: "Skye contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce." Skye responded: "Yes, Dad, I know....and that is precisely why I'm calling you."

Wayne certainly raised a wise daughter. Skye did contemplate herself being surrounded by the conditions she wished to produce and two weeks later, Skye released her exceptional brand new CD called "This Skye Has No Limits".

Think about the advice Wayne gave Skye. "Contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce.!" Read that again: "Contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce.!" This is one of the wisest and most profound statements I've ever heard. I recommend you write out this statement and place it in plain sight. Commit it to memory and repeat it often. Think about something you'd love to have in your life and "contemplate yourself being surrounded by the conditions you wish to produce".

Skye Dyer's new CD is called "This Skye Has No Limits" and is available at Hay House. I've pasted the link here for your convenience:
